The Two-Thirds Rule.

The New Haven Union says that "the re peal of this rule would undoubtedly result in the nomination of TILDEN, while its retention may cause the defeat of that arrant trickster and sham reformer."

Let TILDEN's friends learn wisdom from his enemics. Undoubtedly he has a majority of the delegates. Why should they not nominate him? The Republican party has always nominated by a majority vote. So did the old Whig party in its day. To require more than a majority is not democratic. It is in effect to clothe minority with the power to rule the most important convention of the Democratic party. Only once in four years does such a body convene, and at each meeting the turbulent, aspiring, self-seeking, querulous, and most unpatriotic members are invested with the power of frustrating the purposes of the orderly, unambitious, and patriotic majority. Almost every man who has ever held a seat in Congress looks upon himself as a possible nominee of a Democratic National Convention. He bases his hopes, not upon his own merits, nor his own popularity, but upon the fact that under the operation of the two-thirds rule every man of prominence and popularity may expect to be slaughtered by a discontented and perverse minority. The unpatriotic delegate therefore votes for the adoption of the two-thirds rule, being determined to make as many chances for himself as possible. He thus uses the two-thirds web promoting his rule as a means not only of promoting his rule as a means not only of promoting his own interests, but of damaging the fortunes of the very aspirants whom his own people desire him to aid in nominating. Can a rule which thus divests the majority of its natural right to control, and invests the minority with the power to thwart the wishes of that majority, be justified in the present condi-

Inasmuch as it seems to be almost universally agreed that the delegates from the southern States will present the name of no person residing in their section for nomination either for President or Vice-President, they will have at St. Louis an excellent opportunity to aid in a good work the northern delegates who do not wish to profit by the wrongful operation of an unjust rule. That good work will be the refusal to readopt the two-thirds rule. No such rule can have force in any Convention until adopted by the body itself. The fact that heretofore for many years it has been the custom to adopt it need not be considered for one moment. When that rule was first adopted it was also the custom to take the candidate for either one or the other of the offices from the South. This custom has been allowed to cease. It no longer obtains. The two-thirds rule should share the same

tion of the country?

Compromise. The last issue of the New York World shows that that erratic journal is anxious to see the friends and opponents of Mr. TILDEN within the Democratic party of New York come to an understanding before the meeting of the St. Louis Convention. It professes to be very anxious to see the breach closed up. A shrewd Virginia politician now in Washington, who was recently outspoken in his hostility to TILDEN, writes home that the opposition to the Great Reformer is sensibly diminishing in Washington.

The signs are all propitious.

A CONVENTION OF SOUTHERN COLORED MEN is to be held in Augusta, Ga., on the 26th of June "to confirm a final departure from the Republican party, with its loathsome corruption, and forever hereafter east our vote for better men and a better party.'

The Augusta (Me.) Journal says: We have personally known James G. Blaine twenty-two years, and have been led to believe that in religious faith he is a Protestant." We know that both he and his estimable wife are members in good standing of Rev. Mr. Ecob's (Congregational) church, in this city.

In the Third district J. N. Arrington. Esq., is put down as "perhaps for Hen-We are authorized to state that Colonel Arrington will go to St. Louis entirely untramelled, with a determination to cast his vote for the man who stands the best chance of success in the coming election. But if he has any preference at all, it is for Tilden, of New York .- Union Springs

Herald.

Good. That is one more Tilden man than we counted on. If this thing goes on, we will have Alabama leading off at St. Louis with twenty votes for the next President of the United States, Samuel J. Tilden. Mobile Register.

Said a Republican farmer the other day "My taxes are $100 less than they were before Samuel J. Tilden became Governor. I shall vote for him for President if he is nominated." Said a prominent Republican politician and business-man, who is largely interested in the canals: "There is no do that Tilden is immensely strong with the people. He is certainly in dead earnest in protecting the canals. We owe him a great deal." These are simple illustrations of the manner in which Governor Tilden is regarded by the people. They indicate the character and sources of his strength. Disappointed office-seekers may be against him. Those who are being prosecuted in the courts of the State are certainly against him. But the people are with him. They may not talk so boisterously, but they determine public sentiment; and the public sentiment of the State to-day is certainly with Tilden.

SUMMER RESORTS.

Owing to the depressed condition of the courtry the proprietor has determined to lower hicharges, that all may be able to derive the benefit from the use of these justly celebrated waters. They need no recommendation to Virginians, since they have so fully established their efficiency through the thousands who have been brought from death door to renewed health by the use of their wonderful producing waters. Since last summer the Chalv medicinal waters. Since last summer the Chaly beate Spring, which was opened last year, has beet thoroughly analyzed by Professor M. B. Harden, o the V. M. I., of Virginia, and by comparison show it to be fully as strong as "Rawley" of carbonate of iron, having a small quantity more than one and a small quantity less than the other two springs. So in addition to the water that has made these springs famous the proprietor takes pleasure in an ig that he can furnish those who may need ither separately or in connection with the more elebrated waters of these springs a pure carbonate of iron (chalybeate) water inferior to none, and qualled only by Rawley, in the State. This at the ry cheap rates, with accommodation fully up to my previous year.

First mouth of four weeks, $60; two months ight weeks, $100.

This well-known and popular summer resort will be open JUNE 1, 1876. The waters by analysis compare favorably with the renowned chalybeate vaters of Europe. It is the strongest chalybeate in he United States. In addition to the water the loca-ion, pure and exhiberating atmosphere, picturesque cenery, tine walks, drives, hunting, fishing, &c., all tend to make Rawley the most attractive as wen as the most healthful resort in Virginia. The company has at great expense erected the most commodious and comfortable buildings in the State, and during the past winter completed a perfect system of terracing and underdraining.
